

Covenant with God

I, Shari Johnson, Covenant with God the Father, Jesus Christ the Son, and the Holy Spirit, this 13th day of June, 2015 to commit myself to the ministry of Christ Jesus in whatever capacity the Lord chooses to place me in.

I commit my hands to His service, whether that's on a computer keyboard, the strings of an instrument or a work of compassion to the community that God gives me to serve in.

I commit my voice to His service, whether that is to speak the Word of God with boldness or to sing psalms and hymns of praise.

I commit my personal possessions to His service, which were never mine to start with.

I commit my life as an example of how Christ would live, love and serve; without prejudice to the soul of any man, woman or child.

I make this covenant on a rainy Saturday morning with rain falling from Heaven and from my eyes knowing that my human state will be apt to fall and fail and knowing the seriousness of the words I've written. God did not take His covenant lightly, else we'd all be dead in our frail state. Lord help me to fulfill my commitment. Strengthen my heart, for it already is weak. Fill my mind with only your thoughts, desires and plans.

Signed at 8:41 a.m., 13 June 2015

Shari, the Jesus Chick, singer, writer, lover of people, child of God.

Job 5:8

I would seek unto God,
and unto God would I commit my cause:
